

The Social Insurance (Obligations of Employers)
(Guernsey) Regulations, 1970.

Made 30th November, 1970.

Coming into Operation 30th November, 1970.

THE STATES INSURANCE AUTHORITY, in exercise of the powers conferred upon it by section forty-three of the Social Insurance (Guernsey) Law, 1964, and of all other powers enabling it in that behalf, hereby orders:-

Interpretation.

1. (1) In these regulations, except where the context otherwise requires, "the Law" means the Social Insurance (Guernsey) Law, 1964, and any other expressions have the same meanings as in the Law.
- (2) Except where the context otherwise requires, any reference in these regulations to any enactment or regulations shall be construed as including a reference to that enactment or those regulations, as the case may be, as amended, repealed, replaced or revoked by or under any other enactment or by any other regulations.
- (3) The Interpretation (Guernsey) Law, 1948, shall apply to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of a Guernsey enactment.

Obligations of employers to investigate certain accidents.

2. Every employer, on it coming to his knowledge that an employee of his has sustained personal injury caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, shall take reasonable steps to investigate the circumstances of such accident.

Obligations of employers to furnish certain information.

3. Every employer who is required so to do by the Administrator by notice in writing shall furnish him, within such period as may be specified in the notice, such information and particulars as he may require -
 - (a) of any accident or alleged accident in respect of which benefit may be payable under subsection (2) of section sixteen, or under Part III of the Law to, or in respect of the death of, a person employed by him at the time of the accident or alleged accident; or

(b) of the nature of and other relevant circumstances relating to any occupation prescribed in pursuance of the provisions of section thirty-six of the Law in which any person to whom, or in respect of whose death, benefit may be payable under subsection (2) of section sixteen or under Part III of the Law, was or is alleged to have been employed by him; or

(c) in order to determine a claim for unemployment benefit.

Breach of Regulations.

4. If any person contravenes or fails to comply with any requirement of this regulation, he shall be guilty of an offence and liable, on conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten pounds, or where the offence consists of continuing any such contravention or failure after conviction thereof, ten pounds together with a further ten pounds for each day on which it is so continued.

Repeal.

5. The Social Insurance (Obligations of Employers) (Guernsey) Regulations, 1964, and the Social Insurance (Obligations of Employers) (Amendment) (Guernsey) Regulations, 1970, are hereby repealed.

Citation and commencement.

6. These regulations may be cited as the Social Insurance (Obligations of Employers) (Guernsey) Regulations, 1970, and shall come into operation on the thirtieth day of November, 1970.

Dated this thirtieth day of November, 1970.

E. H. BODMAN.

President of the States Insurance Authority, for and on behalf of the Authority.

Explanatory Note

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport).

These regulations impose certain obligations on employers in relation to industrial injuries and prescribed diseases and require them to furnish certain information in order that claims to unemployment benefit may be determined.
